SYNOPSIS

A calm countryside teashop which is always busy. The happy teashop owner who makes the best tea. A waiter/guard dog who is completely stupid, yet so proud of himself. A naughty young monkey whose sole aim in life is to snatch all the snacks in the teashop. With his entry the shop is no more calm, the owner no more happy and the dog no more proud. And the monkey has a great time!!

CHAI RAJA

The proud owner of 'Hotel California' – the countryside local teashop. He is completely obsessed with himself and his job. He has a very stylized way of working. He makes tea as if the process is a mix of artistic gymnastics and circus. He loves his radio and he plays local music in it all the time. Chai Raja makes tea to the rhythm and speed of the songs played through the radio. Not just that, in fact all his actions match with the songs. The teashop gets a lot of customers and Chai Raja is particular about keeping all them happy. And since he can't look into everything, he hired his assistant cum guard Sundar the dog.

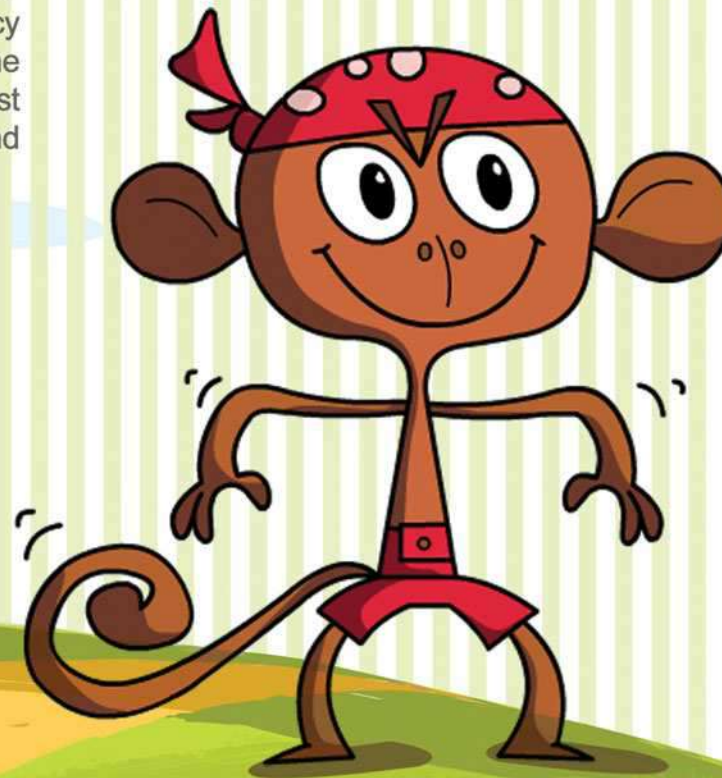

SUNDAR

Sundar was a stray dog whom Chai Raja cleaned up and hired as his teashop assistant cum waiter cum watchman. Sundar is totally inefficient, but completely proud of himself. He is a glutton and is perpetually hungry. But he is very honest, sincere and he doesn't dare take food that is being cooked in the teashop unless his boss permits him to. He serves food to the customers and then starts to stare hungrily at their food, sometimes a drop of drool spilling out of his mouth. And when the customer finishes his meal, it is Sundar who burps and not the customer!! He is completely scared of his boss and knows that his boss doesn't trust him. So he is always trying to be over careful and over protective of the shop. He has a crush on a cute little poodle that passes by with her rich owner once in a while. The moment he spots her, Sundar stops everything that he is doing and just stares at her.....dreamily...!!! Sundar's biggest enemy is Basha and it is because of him that Sundar gets whacked by his boss all the time. Now Sundar's only purpose in life is to either catch Basha or stop him from snatching snacks from the teashop!

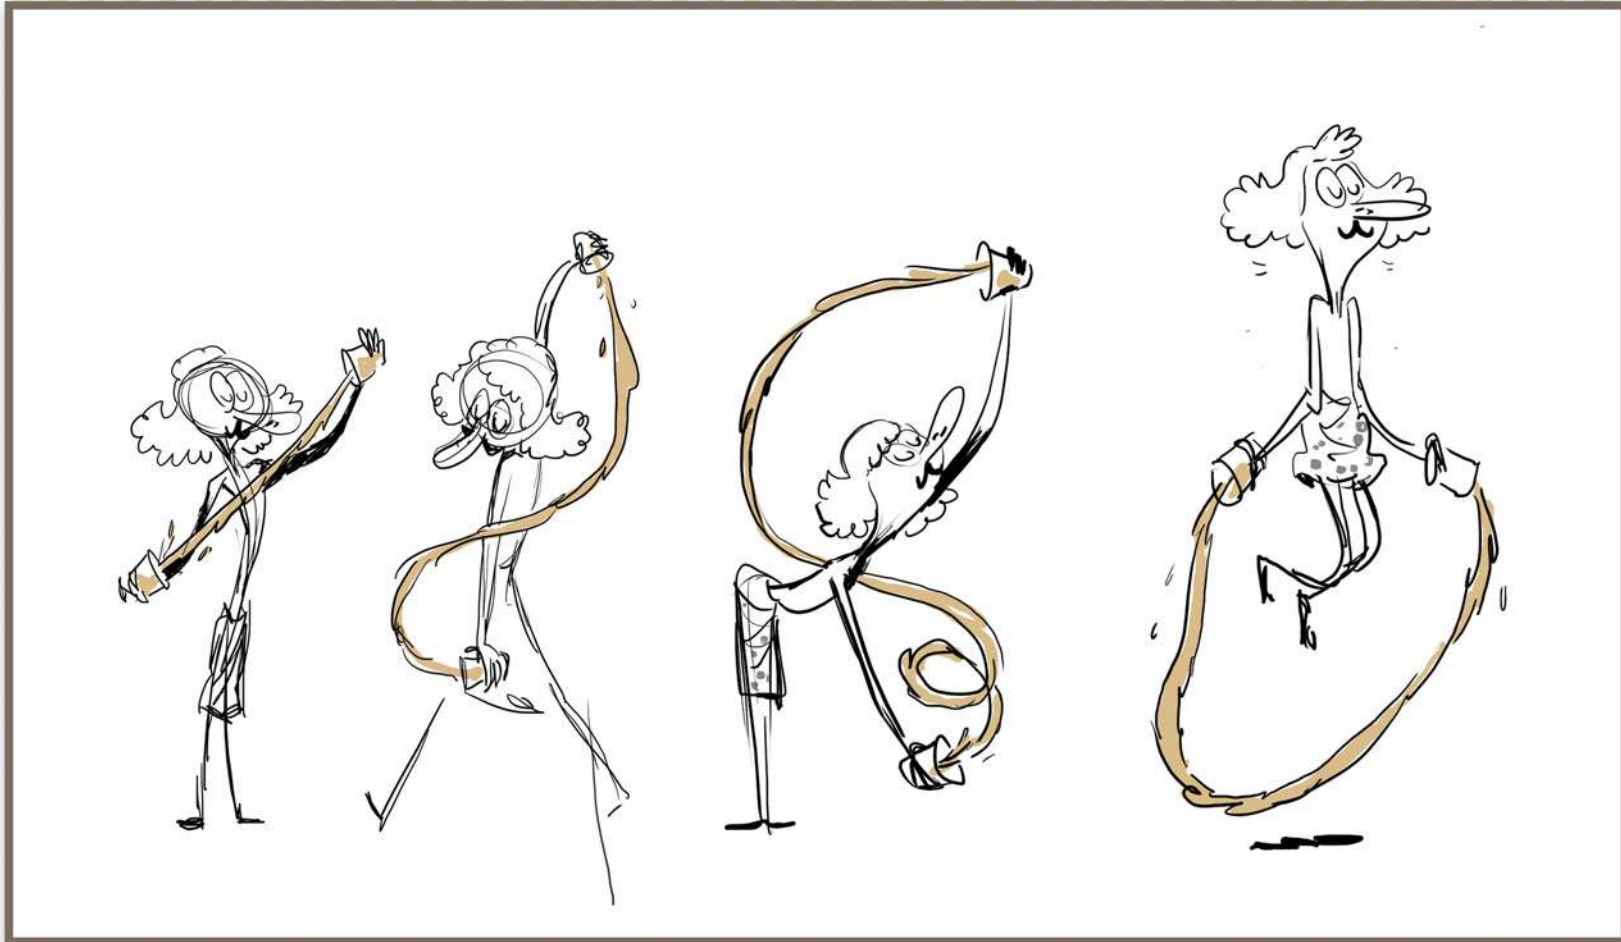

BASHA

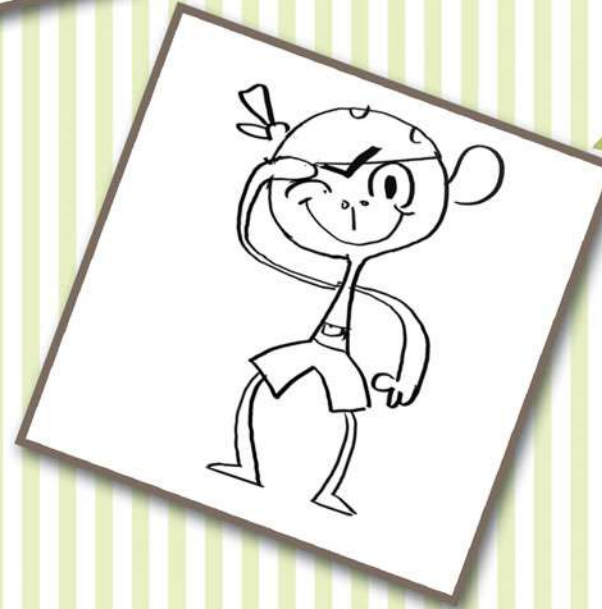

The cute young monkey who ran away from a street circus. He is very smart, agile and athletic and is the biggest fan of superstar Rajnikant. He calls himself Basha. He loves the snacks that are beautifully arranged in the teashop and is constantly trying to snatch them. And as stupid as Sundar is, Basha succeeds in his mission every time. Basha loves to irritate Sundar and always gives him a hard time. Basha enjoys disturbing the peaceful harmony in the teashop. For that he would do anything – snatching the food from the shelf or from the customers' plates, Chai Raja's goggles, customers' things or even Chai Raja's beloved radio! His only weakness is the juicy banana fries which Chai Raja makes. He can be lured into the shop with those banana fries. And Sundar uses it as bait most of the time. But Basha is too smart for both Chai Raja and Sundar.
